

Cyber Simulation (Tabletop)

Prepare. Coordinate. Respond.

Securely Connected Everything™

When a cyber attack hits, your response determines your resilience.

With threats moving faster, systems more interconnected, and responsibilities spread across every function of the business, the ability to respond - together, confidently, and under pressure - matters more than ever.

Organisations operate across hybrid environments and complex third-party ecosystems, yet incident response is often untested or based on assumptions. Unrehearsed processes, unclear escalation paths and outdated contact lists slow containment and increase business impact when a real incident occurs.

Orro's Cyber Simulation (Tabletop) delivers a controlled, realistic rehearsal of your incident response capability. Tailored to your environment and aligned to the NIST incident response lifecycle, it challenges leaders and responders to collaborate and make informed decisions under pressure.

Using Orro's scenario and inject library—emails, texts, calls and simulated media—participants work through a credible cyber event from detection to recovery. Our experts plan, facilitate, evaluate and role-play third parties to ensure realism and meaningful insights. You gain clear visibility of strengths, gaps and dependencies, supported by actionable recommendations and executive-ready reporting.

Key benefits of Simulations.

-  Real-world practice
Test how your teams actually respond, not just what's written in the playbook.
-  Stronger coordination
Improve communication and decision-making across all critical business functions.
-  Clearer escalation pathways
Confirm who acts, when, and how during a time-critical incident.
-  Faster, more confident decisions
Give participants clarity on roles and required actions at every stage.
-  Framework-aligned insights
Receive structured findings mapped to the NIST incident response lifecycle.
-  Improved resilience
Use lessons learned and recommendations to strengthen overall cyber readiness.

How we help you.

> Scenario Design & Planning

Orro works with you to define objectives, select a tailored threat scenario, and build realistic injects—emails, texts, calls and simulated media—aligned to your environment and risk profile.

> NIST-Aligned Evaluation

Your response is assessed against the NIST incident response lifecycle, capturing strengths, gaps, dependencies and improvement opportunities across people, process and technology.

> Facilitated Simulation

A guided, time-boxed tabletop exercise that walks participants through a credible cyber incident from detection to recovery, testing real-world decision-making and cross-functional coordination.

> Post-Simulation Reporting

You receive a comprehensive report with observations, recommendations and maturity uplift actions, plus an optional executive debrief to support leadership awareness and planning.

> Third-Party Role-Play

Orro specialists act as regulators, vendors, customers, media and other external parties to create realistic pressure and deepen engagement during the simulation.
