

Incident Response

Our team of experts can measure the scope of an incident and immediately respond to maintain the integrity of your digital environment.

Having an incident response plan is an integral aspect of any cyber security strategy.

Time is of the essence when under attack. Our team of experts can measure the scope of an incident and immediately respond to maintain the integrity of your digital environment. Having an incident response plan is an integral aspect of any cyber security strategy. Although the hope is always to avoid an attack, the reality is they happen. If not dealt with effectively, even a minor attack can have far-reaching consequences.

Our incident response service gives you the resources to quickly identify the scope of an attack and immediately begin to remediate and re-secure your compromised equipment. This solution combines leading technology with our extensive expertise to significantly reduce impacts on business continuity, financial stability, and brand reputation.

Key benefits of incident response.

-  Rapid, intelligence-driven threat containment that cuts attacker dwell time and protects business operations.
-  24/7 access to seasoned incident responders, ready to act the moment a threat emerges – day or night
-  Comprehensive forensic analysis to uncover root cause, determine impact and preserve evidence for recovery and compliance.
-  Remediation and recovery, guided by proven playbooks that minimise disruption and get you back online fast.
-  Clear communication and executive briefings, keeping leaders informed and aligned through every stage of the incident.
-  Post-incident reporting with actionable recommendations to strengthen controls and prevent future incidents.
-  Stronger compliance posture, supported by guidance aligned to NDB, SOCI Act, GDPR and PCI DSS expectations.

How we help you.

> Act quickly

When a breach occurs, our team quickly identifies malicious activity and begins work to remediate the attack. This minimises attacker dwell time and prevents further data loss.

> Reduce risk

You gain immediate access to highly specialised incident responders, threat analysts, and forensics experts across all domains of cyber security.

> Quality reporting & recommendations

You receive comprehensive reporting detailing how and why an incident occurred, plus actionable recommendations that strengthen your environment against future attacks.

> Avoid costs & further losses

With Orro, your organisation can avoid costs associated with hiring and training an incident response team. Moreover, when a breach occurs, Orro ensures that your digital environment is secured quickly to minimise further breaches or losses.
