

Managed Detection & Response Services

Always-on threat detection and rapid response across your environment—so attacks are stopped before they become incidents.

Securely Connected Everything™

With technology woven through every aspect of your business, understanding your security posture is more important than ever.

Technology is pervasive—connecting people, platforms and data anywhere, any time. As a result, organisations are increasingly exposed to security weaknesses and threat actors looking to exploit access to systems and information.

Maintaining secure operational integrity is critical to reducing risk, avoiding financial loss, and protecting business continuity and reputation.

Safeguarding your digital assets requires a strategic, proactive approach.

Our MDR service leverages our 24×7 Security Operations Centre (SOC) to rapidly detect, analyse, investigate and respond to threats across your environment. By integrating with your existing security tools and using advanced visibility and intelligence systems, we provide a clear picture of your cyber threat landscape—helping your organisation regain confidence and control.

Gain deeper insight through intelligence-led reporting, packed with meaningful recommendations.

Reduce internal workload and improve efficiency with streamlined processes and automation.

Our scalable, flexible service enables effective management and containment of security incidents, supporting faster recovery and stronger resilience.

Through prioritisation and risk-based decision-making, you can focus investment on the tools and controls that align with your policies and business needs.

And with our expertise across complex digital environments, we help your organisation stay ahead of evolving compliance and security expectations.

Key benefits of MDR.

-  Always-on protection: 24×7 monitoring and response that never sleeps.
-  Faster decisions: High-fidelity alerts that cut through noise.
-  Swift containment: Playbook-driven actions that stop threats early.
-  Unified visibility: One clearer view across your security tools.
-  Less internal effort: Reduce workload and alert fatigue.
-  Stronger resilience: Intelligence-led insights that improve posture over time.

How we help you.

> SIEM & Threat Intelligence

We integrate with your SIEM and cloud telemetry to sharpen visibility, enrich alerts with threat intelligence, and surface only what matters—reducing noise and improving detection clarity.

> Vulnerability Management

We help you stay ahead of emerging risks with ongoing visibility, clear prioritisation and focused remediation guidance that strengthens resilience.

> Endpoint-as-a-Service

We operate and tune your EDR/XDR platform, hunt for threats across endpoint and identity activity, and act quickly to contain suspicious behaviour through approved response playbooks.

> Incident Response

When a major incident hits, our responders move fast—investigating, guiding containment and supporting a structured recovery with clear executive communication.

> Automation & Response

Our SOAR-powered playbooks accelerate containment—isolating devices, blocking malicious activity and coordinating responses seamlessly with your existing workflows.

> Additional Intelligence

We monitor external threat sources and surface early indicators of risk, giving you added awareness and confidence across your broader threat landscape.
