

Third Party Risk Management as a Service (TPRMaaS)

Strengthen your supply-chain security with continuous, expert-led third-party assurance.

Securely Connected Everything™

As your business becomes more interconnected, every supplier, platform and partner expands your risk surface-making proactive, structured third-party assurance essential.

Every new vendor expands your risk surface, and limited visibility makes it harder to assess real exposure.

Growing vendor ecosystems often rely on inconsistent questionnaires, manual processes and self-attested information - making it hard to accurately assess supplier security or meet rising regulatory expectations. Limited evidence, slow engagement and fragmented workflows increase risk and add pressure to already stretched internal teams.

Orro's Third Party Risk Management as a Service (TPRMaaS) provides clear, expert-validated visibility into your suppliers' security posture. Through structured assessments, evidence review, OSINT intelligence and passive external scans, we build a complete picture of vendor maturity aligned to NIST CSF and ISO 27001.

Orro engages directly with vendors, verifies documentation and delivers clear, actionable reporting - reducing internal effort and strengthening supply-chain resilience.

Key Benefits of TPRMaaS

-  Get full visibility into supplier security, data access and overall risk exposure.
-  Make faster decisions with validated, evidence-based third-party reporting.
-  Demonstrate compliance across SOCI, Privacy Act, NIST CSF and ISO 27001 requirements.
-  Reduce internal effort through expert-led assessment and vendor engagement.
-  Strengthen supply-chain resilience with a consistent, repeatable assurance process.

What you gain with TPRMaaS

> Risk Visibility

TPRMaaS gives you a clear, evidence-based view of supplier security, exposing gaps that often go unnoticed in self-attested questionnaires or inconsistent internal reviews. You gain the insights needed to understand real exposure - not assumptions.

> Assured Compliance

With assessments aligned to NIST CSF and ISO 27001, TPRMaaS helps demonstrate compliance with regulatory expectations such as SOCI and the Privacy Act. It strengthens your position with auditors, boards and risk committees.

> Decision Confidence

By validating certifications, reviewing artefacts and analysing control effectiveness, TPRMaaS provides the assurance required to onboard or renew vendors with certainty. You move forward based on verified evidence, not vendor claims.

> Operational Relief

TPRMaaS handles the heavy lifting of supplier outreach, evidence review and follow-up. This significantly reduces internal workload and removes the friction of managing assessments manually – freeing your teams to focus on higher-value work.

> Supply-Chain Resilience

With clearer visibility across vendor dependencies and maturity, TPRMaaS strengthens your overall security posture. You gain a repeatable, scalable process that supports continuous improvement and reduces downstream risk.

> Trusted Transparency

By streamlining platforms, simplifying integrations and clarifying direction, TPRMaaS improves performance, eliminates waste and reduces long-term cost - without compromising capability.

> Clear Communication

TPRMaaS builds trust with both vendors and internal stakeholders. Clear reporting, aligned expectations and a structured process make supplier conversations easier, more transparent and more productive.
